

Dear Patricia,
Thank you very much for giving us contributions towards our science festival trip. We really appreciate it. We had a really good time and learned a lot. Here is a poem about my favourite part, the plane simulator in the GE stand.

I'm going to fly today,
I'm speeding down the runway,
NO! It won't get off the ground,
Suddenly there's a crashing sound.

I'm back again without a care,
Suddenly I'm in the air,
Loop the loops and barrel rolls,
The buildings look like mice and moles.

X
Suddenly it lurches up,
My drink has dumped out of its cup,
Falling down towards the floor,
This is really not a bore.

I try to land the massive plane,
Oh dear! I've crashed again,
Now I've learned how to fly,
But I'm not yet ready to take to the sky!

Sincerely,
Niall
